Bayview Builders Welcomes Guy Pilli in Advisory Role, Marking a Thoughtful New Chapter for Pilli Custom Homes

Annapolis, Maryland – Bayview Builders is proud to announce that Guy Pilli, longtime leader of Pilli Custom Homes and a widely respected name in custom homebuilding, will be joining Bayview Builders in an advisory role.

For decades, Guy Pilli has been known for a highly personal, hands-on approach to homebuilding and for the trust he has earned among clients, architects, craftspeople, and trade partners. As he enters the next chapter of his career, he is formally transitioning that legacy to Bayview Builders – whose values, standards, and approach closely reflect the qualities that have defined his work.

In his new role, Guy will serve as a brand ambassador for quality, provide guidance on means & methods, support training & mentorship for Bayview team members, and continue to foster relationships and referrals across his longstanding network.

“Guy has built a remarkable reputation through craftsmanship, integrity, and a personal commitment to every project,” said Dave Carlisle, President of Bayview Builders. “We are honored to welcome him to Bayview in a role that allows his experience and relationships to continue making an impact. We are excited to be carrying forward a legacy of quality in a way that respects what he has built.”

“This transition is very meaningful to me,” said Guy Pilli. “Bayview shares my belief in quality, in doing things the right way, and in the importance of relationships throughout the building process. I’m proud to finalize my career in a way that allows me to support clients, architects, and the next generation of builders while ensuring the values behind my work continue in good hands.”

This transition reflects a strong alignment between two companies known for thoughtful custom homebuilding, close collaboration, and high standards of craftsmanship. Going forward, Bayview Builders will serve as the long-term home for future opportunities connected to Guy’s network and the Pilli legacy, while Guy remains active in an advisory capacity.

For past Pilli Custom Home clients and partners, the transition is intended to create continuity and confidence. Bayview will be available to support future projects, and referrals as new opportunities arise.
